

To obtain a Visitor Visa, you'll need a valid passport, proof of financial support, a travel itinerary, and a letter of invitation (if applicable). You'll also need to complete the appropriate application form (IMM 5257) and submit any other documents requested by the responsible visa office.

Here's a more detailed breakdown of the required documents:

Passport: A valid passport with sufficient validity beyond your planned stay in Canada.

Application Form: The appropriate Canada visa application form (IMM 5257).

Proof of Funds: Demonstrate that you have sufficient funds to cover your expenses during your stay in Canada.

Travel Itinerary: Provide details of your planned trip, including dates, destinations, and accommodation arrangements.

Letter of Invitation (if applicable): If you are visiting a friend or family member, you may need a letter of invitation from them.

Other Supporting Documents: This may include proof of employment, income tax returns, bank statements, or any other documents requested by the visa office.

Photos: You will need to provide passport-sized photographs.

Fee Payment Receipt: Proof that you have paid the required visa application fee.

Cover Letter: A cover letter explaining the purpose of your trip, your ties to your home country, and your intention to return.

Additional Considerations:

Minors: If you are traveling with minors, you may need to provide documentation such as birth certificates, custody documents, or letters of consent.

Biometrics: You may need to provide your biometrics (fingerprints and a photograph) as part of the visa application process.

Medical Exam: In some cases, you may be required to undergo a medical examination.

Clean Criminal Record: You must have no criminal or immigration-related convictions.